Dec. 3, 1930. Alabama Utilities Company, Samson, Alabama. Dear Mr. Woodham: I wish to express to you my kind appreciation for the lovely stove I was so fortunate as to win. As I have said before, I have never won anything, but I guess I was waiting to get it all at one time. An electric stove was worth waiting for and I'm sure had I selected a prize I couldn't have found anything that would give me more pleasure. I know I shall enjoy cooking from now on. Again, I want to thank you, and through you express my appreciation to the Alabama Utilities Company for such a wonderful gift.

Sincerely yours, MRS. A. L. FAULK.

metal pipe line. ALABAMA CON. AND COKE de-livered in a railroad car. Of these three forms of power only ONE employs a vast labor army to produce and distribute. That is Alabama's own natural fuel—ALABAMA COAL OR COKE. Electricity is generated largely at a hydro-power dam, which can be oper-ated with a handful of men. It is automatically distributed by transmis-sion lines. Little labor is required to transport it. Less labor is required

The same is true of Natural Gas. It is pumped through pipe lines from Louisiana. No Alabama labor is required to produce it. And when pipe lines are once laid, no Alabama labor will be needed to deliver it. Only a power forms create mighty payrolls year after year. These payrolls are the backbone of Alabama's prosperity COAL AND COKE create payrolls FIRST, IN PRODUCTION—It takes more than 26,000 Alabama men a year to mine and prepare Alabama's normal coal tonnage. To these 26,000 Alabama workers Alabama's coal industry pays normally the huge sum of $34,500,000. About 2,500 more sumer and about 160,000 cars a year to haul Alabama coke from ovens to WHICH IT MAKES TO OTHER STATE INDUSTRIES—Alabama's coal industry is a big buyer of Alabama lumber, brick, cement, iron, steel and other products made in Alabama. Its purchases keep men employed in the industries and businesses which make Every time an industry or home deserts Alabama's natural fuel—COAL OR COKE—it makes business worse, not merely for the coal industry, but for every citizen who lives in or makes Think twice before substituting nat-ural gas or electricity for coal or coke. Think of the State! Think of yourself! When you use any substitute fuel you are actually endangering your own community--AND YOUR OWN JOB!
